Recovering addicts are often enlisted to speak on the negative lifestyle that substance abuse offers. Developed an extensive library of videos and literature, also receiving materials from the National Clearinghouse for Alcohol and Drug Information catalog on a semi-annual basis. Participate regularly in the annual Model Rocket Competition and attended NCASE in 1999. Four squadrons participated in the Red Ribbon Week. The Wing sponsored a "DDR Bivouac" in April 1999 at headquarters, attending overnight, with refreshments and topic discussions. The Wing works positively with State agencies in providing information on the CAP DDR program. Concord Hospital has a program call "Fresh Start" which is for recovering addicts. The director has been a motivational and informational speaker with the cadets on the negative effects of drug addiction. Participates in the "National Youth Advisory Board for Drug Prevention" for youth, ages 10-18. This project is part of a long-range strategic NATIONAL plan. The Wing DDRA was involved in the NH/CT Glider Academy as the Executive Officer, held June 20-26, 1999 at Danielson Airport, Danielson, CT. Students were given t-shirts to wear that stated 'FLYING HIGH AND DRUG FREE'.

Concord Composite – Meet weekly at the Army NG armory and often enlists the assistance of the DDR personnel. This squadron participates in all NHW DDR activities.

Highlanders Cadet – Won the 1998 NER Color Guard competition and use this award to show cadets what is possible steering away from the negative lifestyle of substance abuse. Substance Abuse”, this presentation was produced and discussed by cadets. In October 1998, the DDR display was utilized for a weekend display at the Colony Mill marketplace, which was open to the public.

Hooksett Composite – Plans its monthly discussions around the wing MLO visit, as the wing MLO incorporates the DDR program in his discussions with the cadets.

Nashua Cadet – Monthly programs include a motivational guest speaker or a youth (known and transported to the meeting by a cadet), recovering from substance abuse.

Manchester Cadet – Holds weekly meetings at the Marine Reserve Training Center, utilizing the DDRA and his assistant.

Middle School programs have been started at 3 new schools, targeting dependents of AF, NG and AF Reserve members. Positive feedback from teachers indicates definite improvement in some cadets, some with previous known disciplinary behavior. 11 cadets remained in local cadet squadrons a year after middle school. Principals are very supportive of the program, utilizing the color guard in school functions, thus increasing self-esteem and generating interest in the program. Established a cadet squadron of 19 cadets and 7 senior members at the Summerfield Community Center, Summerfield Joint Housing Area, Washington, D.C. This effort resulted from advertising, holding an open house and providing uniform items to the new cadets. 42 cadets, 15 seniors and 9 guests attended a rocketry program. This 2-day event provided a fun, hands-on, aerospace education program, along with exciting and challenging activities. Lectures by guest speakers, rules, and safety procedures were covered, with prizes awarded for model rocket competitions. 31 cadets earned the CAP rocketry badge by the end of the event. DC ANG Shadow Program offered a total of 20 cadets the opportunity to get first hand experience in military life by following the guardsmen while he/she goes about their daily task. A weekend trip was taken by a few to the nearby APG. At the end of the school year, the instructor transferred to a nearby high school and the middle school principal decided not to continue the program. Students were provided information on other nearby units in which to transfer. A successful effort to establish a unit at an inner city high school recruited 15 students and 3 seniors, ranging from 9th-11th grades. These members attended ES training, visited the AF Museum at Wright-Patt

AFB. This unit also provided color guard personnel for a number of school activities. Purchased color guard equipment, available for use by all squadrons. Purchased musical instruments, which are secured by the wing. These are used during the National Military Music Academy. Many cadets have the ability to play, but lack the required leadership training. 17 scholarships were issued to cadets for summer camp. 6 cadets attended the Maryland Wing Solo Flight Academy, with 2 being selected to go on a wing scholarship to obtain their private pilot's license.

The Maryland Honor Guard, with 50-70 cadets/seniors, conducted more than 20 practices in four locations across the state.
